To my children, who are my everyday heroes.

Lilibelle poured the water over Charlie's house, and the fire went out. Charlie was ever so grateful to Lilibelle and Beulah that both of them used their abilities to save him.

"I am glad that you are okay, Charlie," Beulah revealed.

"What are friends and neighbors for, if we can't help each other out, Charlie," Lilibelle said, with a smile.

"The two of you are my heroes," Charlie said, smiling, too.

There was a pond just down the hill from Lillibelle's cottage. She flew as fast as she could. When she got there, she dipped the water pail into the pond, and began to fly just over the ridge to Charlie's house.

Lillibelle looked down the hill towards Charlie's milk carton house and saw smoke.

What to do, what to do, Lillibelle thought to herself.

Lillibelle ran into her tiny, mushroom cottage and grabbed a water pail.
